

Checklist

The following is a checklist you can use before, during and after your reflective project.

- Is the title of the reflective project in the form of a question rather than a statement or hypothesis?
- Is your question interrogative rather than descriptive?
- Is there more than one right answer to the question?
- Have you planned your answer carefully?
- Have you explained the issue at the start of your project?
- Have you clearly identified an ethical dilemma?
- Have you clearly shown different community/cultural perspectives with respect to the ethical dilemma of the issue?
- Does your project show that you have explored different perspectives on the issue?
- Have you supported your arguments with relevant, credible and well-chosen facts, data and examples?
- Is your own viewpoint clear?
- Have you arrived at a reflective answer?
- Does the research project respond to the title question in a clear, logical and coherent manner?
- Have you carried out a self-evaluation on your project (see the section "Self-evaluation" in this guide) based on the 10 assessment criteria?
- Have you cited all of your sources?
